Partnership Types

Choose what type of partnership is most appropriate for your business, or contact one of the team to discuss more.

Value Added Reseller

Your company delivers a broad footprint of technologies and solutions to several different verticals with no specific end-user focus. Your company's revenue comes predominantly from integrating and selling hardware, software and services.

Distributors

You resell products and services to various types of solution providers (resellers, VAR, Integrators, etc.) and provide associated recruitment, training and demand generation assistance services on behalf of the vendors' product lines you support.

System Integrator

Your company traditionally realizes revenue from consulting and design services. You have significant expertise in a technology segment or vertical market. You are different from an IT consultant in that you also take title to products.

Technology Partners / ISVs

We've developed technology programs that assist ISVs, technology platforms, and solutions in integrating with Eggplant solutions, for enhanced product reach and impact. Collaboration opportunities are diverse and include extending Eggplant solutions, leveraging our technology, and utilizing proven integration scenarios.

Membership Benefits

Keysight Eggplant's Partner Program enables our partners to build successful go to market alignment with support from product, sales and marketing teams. Your success is our success, and our mission is to create long lasting bidirectional partnerships, deliver sustained growth and provide opportunities to create best in class solution for our customers.
